I'm thinking he must have already done that—his response was WAY nicer than I'd expected! So as long as that's the case that is super great. And please feel free to comment on anything in that email to clarify or correct. I tried to be as basic as possible with my suggestions for changing the tables while at the same time calling out specific things that need to be addressed. Thanks!!

Hi Catherine!

Thanks for keeping the home fires burning on this. I did speak to Bob about Sury's statements at the bottom of this email. Bob agreed that the language and tone were inappropriate and said he would speak to Sury. I'll follow-up to make sure that this is done. ☺

Fantastic, thank you so much Sury.

I'm replying to cc Weihsueh, just noticed he wasn't on the list. Thanks!

Andrew,

I got little late into the meeting and was not there at the end of the meeting when you had some further discussion. So if I am missing some points, or something not correct, please feel free to add/revise as necessary.

Here are some main points:

Hi Sury,

Can you please provide the group with a summary of today's meeting, as you understood it? In particular, can you please indicate what the next steps are, who will be doing them working with whom, and how long we expect this to take (i.e., what are the action items)?

OK, I will get back to my ADME revision now. Also, I am working on my review of the NPC MOA (from Lynn Adams) and will send my comments to Jason.

Hi Andrew/Barbara,
Sorry, I forgot to cc you. Regarding the FA-GeneTox section here is the revised draft with track changes in response to the comments provided by the ToxPath/GeneTox WG. Also, see a separate file where I provided synthesis for the GeneTox Summary. I will work with Nagu and Amanda once I get the review of the Study Quality criteria from Amanda.

We had a series of discussions with the PKWG group after receiving their comments. Also, at the request of selected members of the PKWG we had discussion specifically on endogenous formaldehyde and methanediol issues. After sending the GeneTox revised section, I got back on to the ADME part and started revising the document. I will be able to send the revised draft by early next week.

Hi Nagu and Catherine,

Good morning. Thank you very much for providing the comments on the FA-GeneTox section. Since there were several comments it took a while in revising the draft. Also, being a huge file I faced issues while saving the draft and sometimes lost some text which also added to the delay. It would be easier to work with one section separately. Anyway, here is the revised version with track changes.
